Open Access

Taylor & Francis Online has a dedicated open access page which features videos on open access.

Sign up for Alerts

Select Language 🔻

Translator disclaimer

Sign up for new issue alerts using the 'New content alerts' button on journal homepages and article pages. You can choose to subscribe to email alerts and RSS feeds.

Google Translate

The 'Google Translate' button is another key feature of the site, enabling you to explore articles in your chosen language. Select the relevant language from the dropdown list on article pages.

Altmetrics

For all articles published after January 2012, Altmetric data is viewable on individual article pages, simply by clicking on 'Metrics'. Within the 'Metrics' page, click on the Altmetric badge and see how people are engaging with research articles through mentions in newspapers, magazines, blogs, social media, policy documents, and post-publication peer review sites.

CrossMark

CrossMark, developed by CrossRef, is designed to help you quickly determine whether the document you're viewing is the most recent version, and whether it's the publisher-maintained copy. By applying CrossMark to our articles, Taylor & Francis is committing to maintain the content we publish and to alert readers to changes if and when they occur.

Simply click on the CrossMark logo on the article pages to get updates and verify authenticity.

Full access Toll-free Linking

Toll-free Linking gives you free access to Taylor & Francis journal articles that are referenced by articles published in the Taylor & Francis journals that you subscribe to. It also applies to all of our open access journals and all articles published open access under the open select model.

DataCite Linking

Authors are increasingly opting to submit their supporting data to a repository, and in many cases they're required to do so as a condition of their funding. We've now made that data more accessible through bi-directional linking that takes users from the article to the related data and back again.

The DataCite link has been added to article abstracts. Where an author has deposited data to a repository supported by DataCite, a link to the data will appear under the article abstract, and where an author has deposited data to multiple repositories, links to all repositories will appear in a pop-up.

Knowledge on the Move

Users can continue to access knowledge on the move. Taylor & Francis Online is now fully responsive across all pages on the site. This means that content flows intelligently into any tablet or mobile device, menus and actions are appropriate for each screen size, and the reading experience is delightful and familiar.

Additional Citation Source

To more accurately reflect the true number of citations an article has received, figures from the Web of Science® and Scopus are displayed on Taylor & Francis Online, alongside the existing CrossRef citation counts. Article citation counts can differ between Web of Science®, CrossRef and Scopus.

When a citation count is available from the sources, it will display next to the article with the source identified on both table of contents pages and on article pages. Simply select 'Metrics' on the individual article page to view any citations.
